Why R3IMAGINE ?

Fact 1: The only way any organization can create, accumulate, and deliver value (products, services, experiences) to its customers and other stakeholders is via its cross-functional business processes.

Fact 2: It follows that every organization executes its strategy via its cross-functional or end-to-end business processes.

Fact 3: The organization chart is, for all practical purposes, silent on who manages across the organization so the way value is delivered, and strategy executed, is not actively managed.

Fact 4: Traditional management is not enough. An overlay of process-based management must be added to achieve and sustain optimal organizational performance.
